Congratulations on winning the grand prize in the National Museum of American Diplomacy's ImpactHack 2020 hackathon! Your unique and informative interactive world map is an invaluable contribution to the creation of a museum that will tell the story of American diplomacy like never before.

From the Declaration of Independence to today, diplomacy remains a vital tool to ensure our national security and prosperity. I can think of nothing more crucial to understanding our nation and its history than knowing the story of American diplomacy. The museum's original storytelling and exciting interactives will help the public explore the meaning and significance of American diplomacy.

Thank you for your remarkable work. We value your efforts and look forward to collaborating further as we work to open this important national museum.

Sincerely,

Michael R. Pompeo
